#Advantageous Ones#

Galatasaray, Liverpool, Besiktas Fenerbahce

Thanks to high broadcasting revenues, sponsorship deals and revenues generated in European cups, the budget of big clubs is wider.

Having a large number of fans increases jersey and product sales.

The fact that they were better managed in the financial past, keeping debt ratios under control can also be effective.

#Disadvantaged Ones#

Newly promoted teams (for example: clubs newly promoted to the Super League)

They have little Super League experience, their income is low.

Sponsorship and broadcast revenue potentials are limited.

They may have incurred debts or losses in the past years.

deviation is included.

- ★ To interpret; Galatasaray and Fenerbahce's limit is at the top and almost 2 times more than other teams.
- ★ For lower-ranked teams, this difference can be a big disadvantage.
- ★ These differences have a direct impact on the transfer budget and the quality of the squad.

Official Entries Describing the Past

TFF has determined the spending limits according to the income and debts of the clubs.

The limits of the big clubs are high, the small ones are low.

Flexibility was provided with 30% deviation. The aim is financial discipline and financial fair play.

➤ Future Prospects

High-limit clubs have an advantage in the championship.

Clubs in the middle class will be competitive.

Low-limit clubs should plan carefully.

The budget difference will be decisive in transfers.

Financial discipline brings success in the long run.
